

Council agrees to hire new officer

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

Granite City will hire its first new employee in nearly a year as a result of City Council action Tuesday night. And the Police Department, which has lost four men since a citywide hiring freeze was enacted in November, will be the beneficiary of the action.

The addition of two new dispatchers will also free up another uniformed officer, who had been assigned dispatch duties due to lack of manpower, to work the street, according to Chief Don Knight.

"In effect, we will have two more officers on the street," Knight said. The new officer will bring the department total to 50.

The City Council, on the recommendation of the Police Committee, authorized the action by an 11-3 vote Tuesday night following a closed session.

After discussing the matter with the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners Wednesday morning, Knight said the new officer could be hired as soon as Nov. 1.

Alderman Tom Candier, chairman of the Police Committee, proposed that one patrolman and two dispatchers be hired for the department. Fourth Ward Alderman Dan Partney immediately asked Candier to reconsider, and split the motion.

"While I would support the addition of two needed dispatchers, I cannot vote for this the way it has been presented," Partney said.

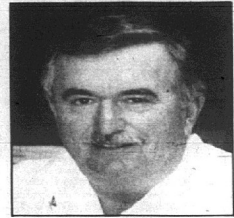

Candier declined to change the motion. Partney, 4th Ward Alderman Dan Brown and 5th Ward Alderman Ginny O'Bear voted against the measure.

Partney said after the meeting that he is a proponent of reducing city expenditures to balance the budget.

"All I hear from these guys, though, is 'Let's raise revenues,'" he said.

Knight said the addition was made possible, in part, by a federal grant. An experienced officer has been placed in the Metropolitan Enforcement Group of Southwestern Illinois, and the grant will reimburse the city 63 percent of a new officer's salary, Knight said.

The city had pulled out of MEGS in August 1990, and has not participated in the undercover operation because, in Knight's words, "Granite City never got its share of federal grant money" to (See OFFICER, Page 8A)

Steel firm's losses 'cut' to $3.3 million

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

National Steel Corp., Granite City Steel's parent company, "only lost $3.3 million" in the third quarter of 1991, the company announced Wednesday.

"I know 'only lost $3.3 million' sounds terrible, but it's really good news," said Bob Maxwell, Granite City Steel's manager for public relations.

After losses of $101.3 million in the first half of 1991, Ronald H. Doerr, president and chief operating officer of National Steel, told employees that if the company did not pull up to at least the break-even point for the second half of the year, the company "could be on a collision course with bankruptcy."

Doerr said Wednesday that he is optimistic the company will break even for the second half of 1991, although it means the company must show a profit in the final quarter.

Doerr said he believed breaking even was an attainable goal when he set it and the third quarter results show he was right to believe in the company's ability.

Doerr said his warning about bankruptcy concerned facing "a situation where the company was bleeding at a rate that would bankrupt it" by early 1992.

The third-quarter figures, Doerr said, show the "profuse bleeding has slowed to a trickle" and he said that in August and September the company actually showed a small profit.

Despite the net loss in the third quarter, National Steel showed a third-quarter operating profit, said Kokichi Hagiwara, chairman and chief executive officer of National Steel, in a statement released with the quarterly figures.

Hagiwara said the operating profit was $9 per-ton shipped in the third quarter, compared to operating losses per-ton shipped of $45 in the first quarter and $17 in the second quarter.

Looking ahead, Doerr said he anticipates some improvement in domestic market conditions in the next quarter and said National Steel's "order book" is stronger than it has been in 30 months.

He said a 4 percent price increase Oct. 1, affecting business done on the spot market, appears to be sticking. Sixty percent of National's business is contractual while 40 percent is on the spot market.

But, Doerr said, he is still concerned about the economy in general.

"We've told people not to expect a lot of help from the marketplace," Doerr said. (See LOSSES, Page 8A)

Refinancing plan will allow reduction in school tax rate

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

Taxpayers in the Granite City School District will pay out almost $230,000 less than expected for a 1994 bond issue as the result of a refinancing plan approved Tuesday night.

This means the 1992-93 tax rate for the average taxpayer will be lowered by "at least three cents" on each $100 of assessed valuation, according to Norm Owca, the district's financial director.

The district had an outstanding principal of $2,975,000 on the 1984 working cash bonds, which were due to mature in 1994. Those bonds carried interest rates of between 10 and 10.5 percent with a net interest of just over 10.37 percent.

The new bond issue, for $2,975,000, carries an interest rate of 4.9927 percent. The new issue also matures in 1994 and its lower interest covers the additional $100,000 in principal and still saves the district $229,441.42, according to Owca.

Owca stressed that the refinancing doesn't bring any money into the district, but instead is a direct saving to the taxpayers because debt payment is part of the tax levy.

The refinancing, arranged through Speer Financial Inc. of Chicago, was put out for competitive bids with a deadline of noon Tuesday.

Eight bids were received, with Mercantile Bank of St. Louis being the successful bidder.

"I think everyone here jumped for joy when a bid came in for less than 5 percent," said Superintendent Gib Walmsley.

Joanne Foerster, vice president of Speer, called the rate "extremely low" and said it was partially due to interest rates being lower in general, to the fact that the bonds have a short maturity and to the competitive bidding process itself.

But to a great extent, Foerster said, the low interest rate was due to the district's improved financial status and the 27-page printed presentation of that status put together by Owca.

"I think (Owca's presentation) had a lot to do with creating an interest in purchasing the bonds," Foerster said.

"After sending it out, we had 12 inquiries, of which eight (See TAX, Page 8A)

Gaming Board may decide Friday on Sauget casino plan

The Alton Belle Casino, on the brink of getting a permanent operating license, could be facing competition within a year from a floating casino twice her size at Sauget.

The Illinois Gaming Board is expected to take action Friday both on a final license at Alton and on a preliminary license for Arch View Casino Cruises Inc.

Arch View, which is owned by St. Louis businessman George Middleton, will build a 1,200-passenger modern "yacht-style" casino if it gets the Gaming Board's endorsement, said Robert Ogren, a Springfield attorney representing Middleton before the Gaming Board.

Gaming Board Administrator Morton Friedman said his staff has "basically completed" its background investigation for Arch View and will present its findings to the board along with a presentation by the applicant.

Ogren said Arch View hoped to be in operation by next Labor Day, nearly a year after betting began on the Alton Belle.

He said the group believes the St. Louis market is large enough to help both boats prosper.

However, he said Arch View wanted to get in operation as soon as possible because "our concern is St. Louis might approve gambling on their river front."

Missouri voters will decide in a November 1992 referendum whether to legalize riverboat gambling in that state.

Like the Alton Belle, the Sauget boat would be strictly devoted to casino gambling and not have on-board dining facilities, Ogren said. A restaurant is planned for the docking area, however, Ogren added.

The Sauget boat would be substantially larger than Alton's, which has only a 504-passenger capacity.

Arch View's proposed boat would be about the same size as one docked at East Peoria that hopes to start gambling on the Illinois River next month.

The Sauget application had originally been slated to be heard by the Gaming Board at its July meeting but was postponed due to the death of one of the original partners, Vincent Sauget. Since then, Vincent's brother, Richard, has also withdrawn from the partnership, Ogren said.

Truck owner sues city over garage

By Nicole Vaughn
Staff writer

A Granite City man has taken his troubles with building a garage for his semi-truck tractor to court.

Larry Dunn filed suit Monday against the City of Granite City and has asked a Madison County judge to declare unconstitutional the city's ordinance making it illegal to park tractor-trailers in residential areas.

The lawsuit also seeks in excess of $15,000 in damages for money Dunn spent on the project he was not allowed to complete.

Attorney Thomas Hildebrand, who represents Dunn, said the suit is based on multiple problems Dunn has had with the city since April and "no one wants to give him any recourse."

The problems begin, Hildebrand said, with Dunn having been issued a building permit for his garage "only for the city to turn around and say, 'Gee, we shouldn't have done that.'"

Dunn, who lives in the 2200 block of Bryan Avenue, has been at war with the city and 4th Ward Alderman Dan Partney. Dunn's alley neighbor in the 2200 block of Dewey Avenue.

Last spring, Dunn decided to build a pole-barn style garage on his property to park a semi-tractor in, and applied for a building permit which was granted by Building Inspector John Jakich.

Shortly after Dunn got the poles in the ground, however, Jakich pulled the building permit based on objections by Partney. (See GARAGE, Page 8A)

Shimkus keeps vow, returns pay increase

By Nicole Vaughn
Staff writer

At a time when most employees are clamoring for a pay raise, John Shimkus is giving his back.

The Madison County treasurer returned the $2,000 pay increase Wednesday at his tax collection office in Edwardsville.

The raise had been approved for his post by the Madison County Board on Oct. 18, 1990 — several weeks before Shimkus, a Republican from Collinsville, was elected.

Shimkus said the return of his raise — which he did by personally checking the last of several campaign promises that he has made and since honored.

"I want people to hold me accountable for promises that I've made," he said.

Shimkus said the money cannot legally be deducted at the county level so he has deducted and saved up the additional money himself. His current annual salary is $47,000.

The County Board had approved a pay raise package that would increase the treasurer's annual salary by $20,000 over a four-year period. The $2,000 is the first-year increase, to be followed by $4,000, then $8,000 and $8,000 raises in subsequent years.

Shimkus said he had originally planned to deduct taxes he will have to pay on the income, even though he did not accept it. But he chose to keep things simple.

"I'm eating $2,000," Shimkus said. "What's a few more dollars in federal income tax?"

Shimkus added the campaign promise to his list immediately after the increase was approved last year. He reached that decision after door-to-door canvassing in 32 precincts.

"I am even more convinced now than before that the citizens of Madison County are tired of (See SHIMKUS, Page 8A)

Captured after robbery

A 24-year-old man is in custody after his alleged attempt to steal a young woman's purse early Sunday morning was thwarted by nearby tavern occupants.

Enrique I. Marcal, whose address was not listed, was arrested just before 1 a.m. Oct. 20 and charged with robbery. Bond was set at $25,000.

Officers were dispatched to the Sports Tap tavern in the 900 block of Niedringhaus Avenue, where Stacie L. Fisher, 21, of the 1800 block of Edwardsville Road, Madison, told them a short, dark-haired man, wearing a tan jacket, approached her outside the tavern.

She said he had his hand inside his jacket as if he was holding a weapon. He said something in a foreign language, knocked her keys from her hand, pushed her to the ground and stole Fisher's purse.

The man then fled on foot on Chestnut Street.

When Fisher and her sister requested help from occupants of the tavern, Marcal was apprehended, allegedly with the purse in his possession.

Auto burglary alleged Jamie D. Riggs, 17, of the 1700 block of Walnut Street was arrested at 3:12 a.m. Oct. 19 and charged with burglary.

David L. Wilmoth, 24, of the 2400 block of Dewey Avenue told police he caught Riggs in his blue 1984 Chevrolet Camaro. Riggs allegedly had two cases of audio cassette tapes in his possession when apprehended.

Riggs was held in lieu of $20,000 bond.

Burglar gets jewelry

Earnest Brinson of the 2300 block of East 25th Street returned home about 1:45 p.m. Oct. 18 and found his residence had been entered and ransacked. A rear door had been pried open to gain entry.

Immediately determined to be missing were several gold necklaces and gold rings inset with diamonds and valued at $2,000, a 33mm Minolta camera worth $125 and $500 cash.

Purse, cash stolen

Margaret Belt of Harvard Place reported at 5 p.m. Oct. 18 that her tan purse was stolen while she was at Wendy's Restaurant, 25 Nameoki Village Shopping Center. The purse contained eyeglasses valued at $150, credit cards and cash.

Burglars leave loot

Responding to a burglary in progress at 10 p.m. Oct. 18, officers arrived at the Terry Johnson residence in the 2200 block of Grand Avenue and were advised that two men had been seen leaving the dwelling.

A neighbor reported seeing the two carrying a television and video cassette recorder from the house and heading south down an alley. They appeared to have set the items down, she said. An officer searched the area and recovered a 19-inch television valued at $400 and a VCR worth $150 at the rear of a residence in the 2200 block of State Street.

After he returned home, Johnson identified the property as belonging to him. A window in the front door had been broken, with the intruders reaching through to unlock the door, police said.

One of the burglary suspects had blond hair and was wearing jeans and a jacket. The second man was also dressed in jeans.

License warrant served

Wendell L. Tackett, 49, of the 4700 block of Lake Drive, Ponton beach, was arrested on a warrant at 2:58 a.m. Oct. 19 while seated in a vehicle in the Crossroads Plaza Shopping Center.

The warrant alleged failure to appear on a charge of driving while his license was revoked.

Warrant for burglary

David Bryan Cuppett, 18, of the 3000 block of Buxton Avenue reported to the Granite City Police Department at 4:30 p.m. Oct. 18 in response to a warrant, charging burglary, being issued for his arrest.

Cuppett paid $550 cash bail and posted a $13,500 recognition bond as authorized by Judge Michael Meehan.

Would-be thief escapes

Clyde Kohensky of the 2000 block of Cleveland Boulevard saw someone sitting inside his 1972 Chevrolet pickup truck that was parked in front of his residence at 11:36 p.m. Oct. 18.

Kohensky told a friend to call police and then went onto the front porch and yelled at the man, who got out of the truck and fled on foot, with Kohensky chasing him.

After pursuing the suspect for several blocks, Kohensky said, he was unable to catch up with the man. The last time he saw the suspect he was running east across the City Hall property, Kohensky told police.

Wires had been pulled loose from the truck's ignition system, officers said.

The suspect had shoulder-length blond hair and was about 5 feet, 7 inches tall and of heavy build. The man was wearing white pants, a black jacket and a white baseball cap.

Television, radio gone

Tina L. Bailey of the 1700 block of State Street reported at 2:45 a.m. Oct. 18 that a burglar forced open the front door to her apartment and removed a 19-inch color television valued at $350 and an AM/FM dual cassette radio worth $100.

Traffic stop nets arrest

A routine traffic stop Oct. 13 resulted in a felony arrest when an officer learned the driver of the vehicle was wanted in two other jurisdictions.

Rodger L. Thomas, 39, of St. Louis was arrested at 3:38 a.m. on a St. Louis warrant for first-degree sexual assault and an Illinois State Police warrant charging him with battery.

Thomas, who was transported to the Madison County Jail awaiting extradition, was also issued a citation for driving without a valid driver's license.

Pickup truck stolen

Ralph Marciano, 37, of East St. Louis reported his black 1979 Ford Explorer pickup truck was stolen from the 16th Street parking lot of Granite City Steel between 3:30 p.m. Oct. 13 and 12:07 a.m. Oct. 14.

Assault, battery alleged Wayne S. Taylor Sr., 20, of the 1900 block of Fifth Street, East Madison, was arrested at 6:15 p.m. Oct. 20 and charged with assault and battery.

Officers dispatched to the 2400 block of Lincoln Avenue were told by Betty Sorenson, 65, a resident of the block, that Taylor had threatened to do her physical harm.

Her son, Larry Sorenson, 34, said that Taylor punched him in the face following an argument. Taylor was lodged pending $104 cash bail.

News in review

News in review provides a summary of some of the past week's stories. This column is designed for out-of-town readers who do not receive the Sunday and Wednesday Press-Record/Journals.

If Granite Citizens are having a hard time figuring out which of the three state representative districts or two senatorial districts they live in under the legislative redistricting proposed by the Illinois Legislative Redistricting Commission, they are not alone.

Madison County Clerk Evelyn Bowles, who must make out the ballots, called the plan "a God-awful can of worms."

The plan puts all of Chouteau Township, most of Ponton Beach, half of Nameoki Township and eight of Granite City's 35 precincts and 84 other parcels of less than precinct size into a district containing House Majority Leader Jim McPike, D-Alton.

All of West Granite and Lincoln Place, as well as all of Madison and Venice, would be in a district with Rep. Wyvetter Young, D-East St. Louis.

The remainder of Granite City and Nameoki Township would be in a district that contains Rep. Sam Wolf, D-Granite City. That district would contain all of Belleville.

Wolf said that "if you had set out to destroy the representation for the area in the Legislature, you couldn't have done a better job."

According to 1st Ward Alderman Casmer Skubish, Granite City's proposal to place a five-cent surtax on the sale of lottery tickets was well received by the Legislative Committee of the Illinois Municipal League. He said the committee voted unanimously to send the proposal to the IML Board of Directors. If approved by the board, the proposal would be sent to the Legislature, Skubish said.

Skubish said the five-cent surtax would come from the money appropriated for prizes rather than from an increase in ticket price or a cut in the state's portion of the sales. According to figures from the Illinois Lottery, sales in the 62040 zip code area were $14,843,487 in fiscal year 1991.

The newly-renovated Mitchell School was the site of an open house and rededication ceremony Sunday. Of special interest were ten murals painted by Myrna Davis, Granite City School District coordinator of gifted youth and the reading improvement program, and Peggy Brooks, the mother of six and wife of Bill Brooks, a teacher at Lake School.

Two Granite City girls were shot after one of them was raped by four men in East St. Louis early Monday. Both girls were taken to Belleville Memorial Hospital, where police said one was treated for a gunshot wound to the chest and the other for a gunshot wound to right forearm. The wounded girls had flagged down a motorist on Interstate 64.

According to East St. Louis police, the girls, 15 and 16 years old, had gone to East St. Louis after becoming "bored" while visiting a friend's house in Washington Park.

County may reduce taxes

Declining revenues apparently won't stop Madison County budget negotiators from recommending a cut in the general fund tax levy next year.

County Auditor Fred Bathon of Madison told the County Board's budget committee that its tentative general fund budget for fiscal 1992 will be balanced and may allow a lower tax rate.

The county rate this year is 86 cents for each $100 of assessed valuation. The committee completed most work on a draft budget Oct. 17, but the budget could be revised before being presented to the full County Board next Wednesday. The board is expected to complete final action at its Nov. 20 meeting.

The overall county budget is expected to be about $69 million, compared with this year's $75.2 million budget. In addition to general fund outlays, the overall budget includes expenditures financed through special taxes, grants and state aid.

Quinn supports override

State Treasurer Patrick Quinn says he will work for a legislative override of Gov. Jim Edgar's veto of a program to help parents save for their children's college education.

Quinn made the comments Sunday during an appearance in Collinsville, where he spoke at North Junior High.

The college education funding bill, Future Education Account, was passed by the General Assembly in June but vetoed by Edgar in September.

Legislators began the fall session yesterday, Tuesday. Pete Ellertsen, a spokesman from Quinn's office, said Monday that sponsors of the bill may bring it up for override consideration as early as today (Thursday).

If the veto is overridden, Illinois would be joining Alabama, Michigan, Wyoming and Canada as states that have offered parents a special interest-bearing tax-deferred account.

Money saved in the account could be applied to either state or private colleges.

Legislators in early fight over delayed school aid

A chorus of complaints from school superintendents about a delayed state-aid payment has prompted the first controversy of the Legislature's fall session.

During the first day that lawmakers returned to Springfield Tuesday, the Senate approved a measure that says the previous payment schedule will be resumed in 1994, if the state has the money available by then.

Meanwhile, Reps. Jim McPike, D-Alton, and Tom Ryder, R-Jerseyville, introduced a bill in the House to instead simply change the fiscal year for downstate school districts to start on Sept. 1, instead of July 1.

Before the spring and summer session of the Legislature finally adjourned on July 18, a budget-balancing package was approved that included changing the payment schedule for state school aid.

In order to help the state's cash flow for the current fiscal year ending next June 30, the previous practice of paying double payments in June and no payment in July was changed to single payments in June and July starting next summer.

However, many school officials complained that meant they would be getting one less payment for the fiscal year that started July 1. Dozens of school leaders testified in protest at a Senate hearing two weeks ago in Springfield.

A bill approved by a 42-15 vote in the Senate Tuesday promises the old state-aid schedule will resume in 1994. Sen. Art Berman, D-Chicago, proposed the bill, which also calls for interest payments to the districts in 1992 and 1993.

The bill was ripped by Sen. John Maitland, R-Bloomington, a longtime advocate of education. Maitland charged that superintendents had misrepresented the impact of the delayed payment. Maitland said suggestions of potential school layoffs were "a joke," and districts "are not losing any money." He also said "every projection shows" the state won't be able to make the double June payment in 1994 either.

Maitland was one of four lawmakers who negotiated details of the budget last July with representatives of Gov. Jim Edgar.

The two House negotiators were McPike and Ryder, who also continued to insist the payment delay was not a real loss to the local districts.

McPike cited a letter from the Granite City school district saying it would not realize any loss from the payment delay next summer because it uses an accrual system. The district's finance director also proposed all school districts be required to convert to that system, instead of a cash-flow one.

Bill to force more casino info

SPRINGFIELD — Illinois residents are a step closer to learning more about riverboat gambling operations.

The Senate Tuesday approved changes made by Gov. Jim Edgar to a bill requiring public disclosure of substantially more information on the state's floating casinos.

The House is expected to follow suit during the second week of the fall legislative session, which begins Nov. 6. The bill would then become law.

Edgar struck a provision in the bill that would have moved jurisdiction for review of decisions and orders of the state Gaming Board to the circuit courts in the counties where the boats dock. The governor and the Gaming Board favored keeping statewide jurisdiction in the 4th Appellate Court in Springfield.

The governor also inserted additional language to clarify that employees between 18 and 21 years of age may work only outside the gambling areas of the boats.

Edgar left intact most of the bill, however, including a section detailing the types of information the Gaming Board will be required to disclose on public request. The previous law required virtually all information be kept confidential.

The bill also gives riverboat gambling license holders and trade schools the authority to provide training and use demonstration casino equipment for the classes. That also excludes community colleges from becoming involved in training dealers.

Other provisions include one suggested by Madison County State's Attorney William Haine which establishes the counties in which boats are docked as the prosecuting jurisdictions for crimes committed during cruises. — From the Alton Telegraph

Luke 8:25 "And he said unto them. Where is your faith?"

This was the question Jesus asked his disciples when they were about to perish in a boat. They became very afraid when the storm came up, and they thought they might die. He said unto them, "Where is your faith? Have you asked yourself that question? Where is YOUR faith?"

It is appointed unto man once to die. We are all going to have to come to grips with this fact sooner or later. Where we have our faith will make the difference in where we spend eternity. Some people have faith in themselves, some in the doctrines of great men, and some have faith in wealth.

Many today have faith in science and its teaching. Where is your faith? If your faith is in Jesus, the Son of God, then you will spend eternity in heaven with him. He has promised this in His Word, the Bible. Ask Him for faith today.

Taking away city's voice

It's easy to to just shrug off all the hoopla about the proposed state legislative districts as "politics as usual." Even split among three representatives, the chances of a Republican being elected to represent any part of the Granite City area are slim and none.

And all three incumbents — Jim McPike, Sam Wolf, and Wyvetter Young — have winning records as legislators, so how much difference will it make?

Well, imagine that the representative districts remain as proposed and it's now 1997.

McPike, Wolf and Young have all gone on to bigger and better things and have been replaced by representatives A, B, and E respectively.

The hot local issue before the state Legislature: where to locate the newly-approved bridge across the Mississippi River. There are three possible locations: the Granite City area, the East Carondelet area, and the Valmeyer area.

More than two dozen studies and projections of current and future traffic either point directly toward or lean heavily toward the Granite City location.

Since Granite City is also the only location in each of the three legislators' districts, it is guaranteed three votes. Right?

Well, Alton figures that if it can't get a bridge of its own it wants a new bridge as far away as possible — at least as far as Valmeyer — in order to lessen the bridge's impact on Alton. Representative A only has a part of the Granite City area, but has all of Alton.

And Belleville is solid on the East Carondelet location — with a direct link to Illinois 15, Belleville can quit being the first city after crossing the river. Representative B also only has a piece of the Granite City area, but has all of Belleville.

Finally, East St. Louis is tired of being just the area under the Interstate 55/64/70 bridge complex and wants a major beltline-style access of its own. That could be possible with the East Carondelet and Valmeyer sites, but the Granite City area would skip it completely. Representative E only has part of the Granite City area, but all of East St. Louis.

Will the traffic studies and projections still carry the votes of representatives A, B, and E?

If they do, it will only be because the voters of Alton, Belleville and East St. Louis chose to elect extremely statesman-minded people. After all, people who would "rather be right than elected" are usually taken at their word on election day. Many who stand only on principles tend to fall at the polls.

So, coming back to 1991, how much difference does it really make if the Granite City area is split between three state representatives? A whole lot.

It is the difference between blood and water, between a bride and a bridegroom, between winning and losing.

And it would mean that the only sure representation the Granite City area will have at the state level will be Gene Baker's soccer Warriors, Clint Harris' Red Devils and Al Collins' basketball Trojans.

Countdown to romance?

And who can keep track?

(By Carol Clarkin, who writes a regular opinion column for the Edwardsville Journal.)

I'm as big a sucker for romance as the next member of the female persuasion. Hum a couple of bars of "Stardust," blow in my ear, and I'm ready for a little hike down that old primrose path. Within limits!

However, romance has changed humongously since I was the moon of anybody's delight.

Walkin' one's baby back home doesn't get it any longer. A book of verses underneath the bough, a loaf of bread, a jug of wine and the hunk of one's choice is pretty small potatoes these days.

And nobody in their right mind would consider a candlelight dinner and a little Dom Perignon as all THAT big a deal.

Not when you consider Liz Taylor's most recent stroll down what for her is a pretty well-worn aisle. Now, beautiful Liz is just an old-fashioned girl at heart. No casual romp in the hay for her; love is concomitant with marriage in her book. In fact, she could WRITE the book.

You want romance? How about a gazebo carpeted with flowers, situated next to a "swan-filled lake"? And strolling violinists accompanying one along a path "outlined by white roses and miles of white petals."

Liz is no piker. Her yellow wedding gown by Valentino set her back a cool $30,000 and the entire affair had a tab of at least $1 million. But romance doesn't come cheap and, by golly, she's going to keep doing this till she gets it right.

And speaking of romance, can you imagine anything more romantic than the beginnings of the love of Liz and Larry Fortensky when they met, four years ago, at the Betty Ford Clinic — Liz with an itchy-bitsy drug problem, Larry following a little drunken driving incident.

Fate must have brought them together, these two kids. Well, one kid, anyway.

Don't misunderstand; we wish Liz and Larry well. Following her vows of love and devotion to her truck drivin' man, she promised, "This is it."

No reports on what Larry said, but if it doesn't work out, she can afford it. Maybe a tax write-off?

When it comes to the potholes in the road to romance, in general, nowadays the lanes are getting a private viewing of the Miss America contestants, bathing suit category, and making loud, rude and unseemly remarks about the comparative merits of their physical attributes, chiefly in the B & B area. AND in front of Maria! Well!

I guess it's easy to understand how hurt she was, after all ... or so she said after the engagement was declared null and void. Hurt and insulted, I can understand, but why was she surprised?

Has she forgotten Ivana? And the hanky-panky she and The Donald were up to while Ivana was still Mrs. Trump?

And while I'm asking questions, what's this "The Donald," anyway — and who dreamed it up?

"The," opposed to every other Donald in the world? My God, what an ego!

Maria, perhaps, should view the entire fiasco as the best thing that could have happened to her; she might not have come off as well as Ivana did.

Let her hang onto that engagement ring for all she's worth and change her ways, remembering what Joan Rivers once said: A man can sleep around, no questions asked, but if a woman makes 19-20 mistakes, she's a tramp.

Coverage of incident praised

TO THE EDITOR:
As members of the Granite City Ministerial Alliance, we express appreciation to the Press-Record for the quickness and accuracy in which you reported the home defacement of Yvonne Webb and her children.

We likewise are proud of the way in which the Granite City Police responded to the incident and gave it such a priority.

While we regret that outside organizations and agencies beyond our community became involved, we see racism as a condition that extends beyond our locality. It is, in fact, a global concern.

We perceive racism as an indictment of ignorance, selfishness and greed which totally annihilates the social, physical and spiritual well-being of any community if not met with immediate action on a reasonable, precise, efficient and thoroughly responsible manner on the part of officially-elected political leaders and civil servants such as those in Granite City.

We are, as an ecumenical voice of ministers, concerned about the spiritual welfare of the whole community regardless of race, creed or color.

We further call upon like-minded members of our home town to support Yvonne Webb and her children with compassion, understanding and love.

We, finally, call members of all believing faith communities to join us in prayer for the welfare of this family — as well as for those who are engaged in seeking justice in this situation.

Crossing guards should be hired

TO THE EDITOR:
I have a question that I wish someone could answer for me. I just read a bulletin put out by Granite City School District 9, stating they wanted parents who are interested in serving as building aides.

The school district wants three persons everyday for one hour to assist with playground, hall and cafeteria supervision.

The school district will pay the minimum wage ($4.25 per hour) for this position. This position was previously performed by teachers.

If my memory is correct, I read where this same school district said they couldn't afford to pay crossing guards to assist our children across the streets to and from school.

The city has been paying the guards until this year. Why, I don't understand. I feel this should have been the school district's obligation along.

The city gets only a percent of our tax dollar while the school district gets over 60 percent.

I think our children and grandchildren deserve more from our school system.

I understand there are cooks and custodians being used for crossing guards in the morning and afternoon, but none at noon for the kindergarten children. These young children are the most vulnerable.

Wind, garbage cans hazardous

TO THE EDITOR:
I would like to share an experience I had on an extremely windy day and after the decision had been made to move the (East Granite City) trash pickup from the alleys to the front of our homes.

I was driving southbound down Washington Avenue and was in the 2400 block when I noticed that trash containers which had been recently emptied and other left-over debris were being blown around quite a lot by the intense wind.

A large metal trash can was barreling across the road. It barely missed hitting my car and continued rolling into the oncoming lane.

Thankfully, no one was approaching from the opposite direction. That trash can had caused an accident, possibly even resulting in someone being injured or worse.

I would like to suggest that the city find a way to insure that these large metal and plastic trash containers will not present such a hazard for people driving by.

Citizens active in fighting drugs

TO THE EDITOR:
Six years ago, Federal Drug Agent Enrique Camarena was kidnapped and murdered by drug traffickers. He lost his life in what has become one of the most dangerous battles fought in the United States of America: the war on drugs.

During the week of Oct. 19, the state of Illinois celebrated Red Ribbon Week. It is a week in which we remember Agent Camarena and recognize the thousands of Illinois citizens who are active in fighting drug-free communities.

Sponsored by the Illinois Drug Education Alliance (IDEA), Red Ribbon Week is an opportunity for citizens throughout Illinois to demonstrate their commitment to drug-free lifestyles.

It is particularly important that we seize opportunities to demonstrate our intolerance of drug-free communities.

See you at the polls.

Scott to help entire region

TO THE EDITOR:
I commend the St. Clair County Board for its foresight and commitment in pursuing the Scott Joint-Use Project.

I believe that Scott Joint Use is the key to economic growth in Southwest Illinois. We cannot turn our back on this opportunity.

In Randolph County, we will lose over 600 jobs when the Inter-City Products plant closes in Red Bud. These workers will be forced to find another source of income to support their families.

The jobs created by Scott Joint Use, plus the surrounding businesses that it should attract, will provide hope and potential security for the unemployed in our region.

Let us do what we can to provide our people with employment. Let's strive for progress. Let's look to the future. Let's support Scott Joint Use.

11 seek three school board seats in Nov. 5 election

Ervay: Leave out politics

According to Kerry Ervay, the school system is no place for politics.

"I think we should leave politics to the politicians, and use the school district for the safety and better education of our children," Ervay, 44, candidate for the School District 9 board, said.

He is a lifelong resident of this area.

Ervay and his wife, Pat, live at 4021 Kaseberg Lane and have three children: Mark, 20, Brad, 14, and Jenny, 13.

"I don't like some of the (past) hiring procedures, and I want to do something about them," Ervay said. "I am not interested in any existing board member, and I'm aware of the 'tug-of-war' going on (on the board). I don't want to get involved with that."

"If elected, I'll do my homework and use my own best judgment in making decisions."

He said the school district needs to look for creative solutions to financial problems.

"With the state and the federal government cutting revenues, we need to look for creative ways to produce revenues ..."

"The proposed new high school is an example where common sense must be used. We have a

Nemeth cites involvement

Carolyn Nemeth feels her personal involvement with various levels of education make her qualified to take a seat on the School District 9 Board of Education.

"I have been involved with the various levels, special education through accelerated, within my own family. I consider this an advantage in being able to look at the 'big picture' of what it takes to educate our children," she said.

She is a 1985 graduate of Edwardsville High School.

Nemeth, 44, and her husband, Ron, live at 2657 Angela Drive. They have three sons: Jason, 18, Brian, 16, and Scott, 14. She has resided in this area for 25 years.

Nemeth is a contract manager for Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. and includes her professional responsibilities among her qualifications for the school board office.

"I am experienced at all facets of purchasing, including contract writing and negotiations. I have held supervisory positions. I am a member of the Ethics Task Force, have worked in corporate business in various administrative capacities, and am the mother of three school-age sons," she said.

Dickerson: Give back

Rick Dickerson is of the school that believes you always give something back.

"The school district has been very good to me and provided my education. I would like to have the opportunity to return some of what the district has given me," Dickerson, 35, candidate for the School District 9 board, said.

A lifelong resident, Dickerson lives at 3242 Kilarney Drive. He has two children, Michelle, 15, and Jason, 9.

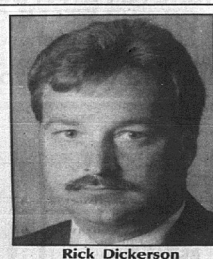

"I have always been very interested (in) and concerned about my children's education," Dickerson said. "It seems with every year that passes, the demands on our children increase. We must always place the needs of our children first. We have a responsibility to provide our children with the best possible education."

Dickerson perceives the school district as progressive, and would like for that trend to continue.

"A school district must always move in a forward direction. We have exceptional teachers and staff who need the best possible resources to be effective educators — something I'm sure other school districts must envy," he

Schmidt cites enthusiasm

Alan Schmidt's concern for his child's future education, as well as for other children, prompted him to run for School District 9 board membership.

Schmidt, 28, said, "My purpose for seeking election as a board member stems from my desire to ensure my own daughter's quality education as well as the rest of the community's education."

"Many of my friends have school-age children. It came as a shock to me that they have not become involved in previous elections."

Schmidt and his wife, Elaine, live at 2515 Washington Ave.

with their one-year-old daughter, Hannah.

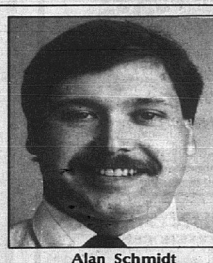

A 1981 graduate of Granite City High School North, Schmidt received a bachelor of science degree in business from Southeast Missouri State University, where he played football for four years. He now holds a management position with Welterau Inc.

He has lived in this area for 25 years.

Schmidt said he feels his management experience and youthful enthusiasm qualify him for the position.

"I believe that any organization, whether it is a business,

Petish: 'Need neglected'

John Petish Sr. feels he can fill a void on the School District 9 Board of Education.

A member of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers for more than 50 years, Petish, 73, is an advocate of vocational education, and feels that the school district's vocational program has been neglected by the board.

"There's something wrong when the local school can't supply enough workers for ... Granite City Steel," Petish said.

He is a lifelong resident of this area.

Petish and his wife, Louise, live at 2357 Carlson Ave. They have two adult children.

Petish regularly attends school board meetings.

"As a result of having attended school board meetings regularly for the past 10 years, I have developed an interest in the procedures of the board."

"My aim is to make the best use of the taxpayers' money by furthering excellence in education and introducing new innovations to maintain the interest of the students, especially (regarding) vocational subjects," Petish said.

"I feel that I can work together with the administration to

Noeth stresses experience

Jim Noeth feels his education background makes him an excellent candidate for membership on the School District 9 Board of Education.

Noeth, 60, is a recently retired educator, having taught in Granite City, Madison and St. Louis. He spent 36 years as a reading coordinator, counselor and teacher.

A resident of this area for more than 50 years, Noeth resides with his wife, Mildred, at 2550 Ivy Lane. They have four adult children.

Noeth received his bachelor degree in natural sciences from the former Shurtleff College, and holds a master's degree in educational administration from Southern Illinois University at Carbondale.

He has done postgraduate work at the University of Missouri at St. Louis, SIU at Edwardsville and Florida State University. He has course work in school law, curriculum, buildings and finance.

An Army veteran, Noeth is a member of the Elks, Knights of Columbus, Organization for Advancement of The Handicapped and the Madison County Democratic Central Committee.

He is on the Education Council at St. Elizabeth Parish.

Noeth said his retirement in June of this year leaves him plenty of time to devote to the school board.

"I would like to help our schools develop a curriculum and an academic atmosphere that will meet the needs and challenges of our students and community, yet with an emphasis on fiscal responsibility," Noeth said.

Jim Noeth

Noeth also has experience at Granite City Steel, farming, as an insurance broker, a truck driver and in property management.

Sheikh stresses parenting

Colleen Sheikh thinks being the mother of six children makes her an especially well-qualified candidate for the School District 9 Board of Education.

"I personally believe raising children is the single most important and challenging profession anyone can have," she said.

A graduate of Ursuline Academy in Kirkwood, Mo., Sheikh with her husband, Dr. Zaki A. Sheikh, lives at 2552 Westmoreland Drive.

She has been an area resident for 23 years. Her six children — David, Lisa, Daron, Dean, Shawn and Maureen — range in age from 25 to 12 years, making her a full-time wife and mother.

As a school board member, Sheikh vows she would "work for higher standards in the education system and update the managing style to become less intimidating, less politically connected, fairer and smarter, so the things we want our children to believe in can still come true."

Sheikh's values are evident in her handling of a little girls' softball team she coaches.

"We teach sports manners, build self-esteem, and actually play ball for fun," she said.

Sheikh attends St. Elizabeth's Catholic Church.

Parker: Keep classes small

Incumbent Jeff Parker believes there are a number of important issues facing the School District 9 Board of Education.

A Granite City police officer for 14 years, he is a school board candidate Nov. 5.

Parker and his wife, Mary, live in the 1600 block of Spring Avenue. He has four children, Nicole, 15, David, 12, and Kim and Kate, both nine. He has served on the school board for three years.

Parker, 37, said, "I have four children in the school system, so I have an interest in seeing that (the school district) maintains high standards for them and for future generations."

"I have always been in favor of keeping class sizes as small as possible. Sometimes this can be difficult to do and still maintain a usable budget, but it is something we have to attempt to do."

"I have been an original supporter of the DARE program, and in 'closing' the high school campus during school hours versus an open campus system. This (policy) cut down on outside drug traffic and influences (in the school)," Parker said.

"I have been a supporter of the renovation of the grade schools in our district to produce a better atmosphere for kids. I believe we must make an effort in the future to renovate the high school as well," he said.

Parker said he is in favor of renovation of the high school, as opposed to replacement.

"There is no (feasible) way to replace that large of a structure, so I believe we must renovate," he said.

He added that if the district shows community interest and investment by renovating the high school, it would prompt businesses to take a serious look at locating in this area.

Regarding contract negotiations, Parker is in favor of a "last best offer" system of bargaining in the event negotiations come to an impasse. Such a system would "force everyone to bargain in good faith or let an arbitrator choose," and would eliminate strikes, according to Parker.

"I am an independent candidate and have no ties to any one group," Parker said. "I like to be involved in the community and to put an effort back into it to keep it continuing. I very much wish to remain on the board and to give my best effort possible to the community."

A lifetime area resident, Parker attended Granite City schools and graduated from the Illinois State Police Academy at Belleville Area College. He is a member of the Elks and coaches youth soccer and baseball.

He serves on the Major Case Squad of Greater St. Louis.

Parker is a member of St. Peter Evangelical United Church of Christ.

Johnson: Limit terms

Mack Johnson has taken a position that is unpopular with his colleagues.

As a current School District 9 board member, and candidate for that office again Nov. 5, Johnson would like to see the board members limited to two terms in office.

"With reform going on at the state and federal levels, why not apply that to the school board as well?" Johnson said. "It would eliminate a lot of politics and get more people involved ... and get new blood into the system."

Johnson, 45, resides with his wife, Vicki, daughter, Staci, 16, and son, Brian, 12, at 2320 Duval Drive.

A graduate of Civic Memorial High School in Bethalto, Johnson is employed by Metro East Industries Inc. in industrial government marketing.

He has served on the school board for four years, was chairman of the citizens' committee for the bond issue in 1984, and is currently the treasurer for the school district.

He has 25 years of experience in business and management.

Johnson would like to continue what he views as recent progress and improvements to the district.

"I want to continue the progress we've made in various areas such as upgrading curriculum, improving in-service training for teachers, and renovation of buildings."

"We need to continue to improve the hiring process, to ensure we hire employees based on qualifications not politics."

"I want to work toward increased funding from the state and federal governments," Johnson said.

He said that teachers, administrators, school board members and parents "need to get organized and put pressure on the people in Springfield."

"The teachers can do it through their organization, and we can do it through the Association of School Boards ... but it is viewed as special interests. But if we can get the parents involved, and get the taxpayers to put pressure on our legislators, it's a different story."

"Funding isn't the only problem, but when it gets down to the bottom line, it costs money to educate kids," Johnson said.

Bell cites 'common sense'

Former Assistant Fire Chief Bob Bell says he will bring a "common sense" approach to the School District 9 Board of Education, if elected Nov. 5.

"I am a common man. I have to live by a budget, and I think the school board needs to be more responsible (budgeting). I can make a contribution to our school district by viewing situations from a common sense point of view," Bell said.

A lifetime area resident, Bell, 48, with his wife, Marti, lives at 175 Briarwood Lane. They have three children: Wayne, 30; Cindy, 28; and Leigh Ann, 11.

schools, Bell holds an associate's degree in fire science from Lewis and Clark Community College. He is currently a captain on the Fire Department.

Bell considers the upcoming election crucial to the future of the school district.

"This will be the most important school board ever due to the major changes in the administrative and teaching staff that will soon occur. Qualifications should be the major consideration (in the hiring process) when these people are replaced."

"In my mind, a person who lives in the district should

Earney: Let's cooperate

Lawrence R. "Larry" Earney pledges to bring a "spirit of cooperation" to the School District 9 Board if elected Nov. 5.

"One board member can't go in there and whip the world. There must be cooperation ... to reach the decisions for our schools and, ultimately, our children," Earney said.

"My father worked for the school district, and we had a good living. I want to give something back," he said.

Earney vows to protect the interests of the children, taxpayers and school district employees.

A customer service superintendent for Illinois American Water Co., for which he has worked 23 years, Earney feels that his business experience will help him in the budgeting and negotiating processes.

A lot of people can sit back and complain, but someone has to step forward and do something. That's why I decided to run. My father worked for the school district, and we had a good living. I want to give something back," he said.

But he sees areas for improvement. "One area that concerns me is classroom size. This is a concern I feel must be monitored very closely. Another area that must be addressed immediately is the current situation with the crossing guards. We have to find a permanent solution to this problem," according to Dickerson.

Dickerson is also concerned about finances. "Good education is expensive. However, we cannot operate this district outside of our financial means. As a member of the school board, I plan to make sure we operate within our budget."

"Over the next few years, we will be faced with some major financial obstacles. I continue to hear conflicting reports of the financial picture. This concerns me not only as a (possible) school board member, but also as a taxpayer," he said.

nice school, with a nice campus. If money can be saved by renovation (of the school, as opposed to replacement), than that's the route to take.

"With 18 years of construction experience, I can certainly be helpful in the decision-making process."

"But either way, you're talking about tax dollars. I certainly am not in favor of increased property taxes, and I don't think many people are. That's where we need to be creative," Ervey said.

"It is not the place of a school board member to be involved in the everyday operation of the school district — that's the administration's responsibility. The school board should be involved in determining and setting policy within the district."

Dickerson owned and operated an insurance agency in Granite City for six years. He graduated from Granite City High School North and is a member of Elks Lodge 1083, the Frohardt PTA, the Granite City High School Boosters and the Cheerleading Parents Club.

He has previously served on the city's Planning and Zoning Commission.

"As a member of the board of education, my first and primary concerns will always be the children of our district. With this goal always foremost, I am sure my decisions will be right," he said.

Dickerson is a member of Tri-City Park Tabernacle.

"I believe our children should have the very best education possible, with a fair exchange to the taxpayer for their investment, and a quality, safe place for the employees to work and make a respectable living," he said.

"We as a board need to live within the budget. I think the taxpayers are going to keep a close eye on us."

"One of the things I'd like to see is something done with the (vacant) buildings. They're a liability, and we ought to do something with them," Earney said.

"But I don't expect to go in there and change things right away," he said. "It will take some time, maybe even a year, to see how things operate."

A Granite City High School graduate, Earney has also attended Belleville Area College and Lewis and Clark Community College.

He is a member of Masonic Lodge 877, a Granite City Auxiliary Police sergeant, and a member of the Chamber of Commerce Crime Prevention and Awareness Committee.

His term on the chamber board of directors recently expired.

"People who live here have an investment in the community; they work here, they spend money here, they raise a family here. A person who lives in the district should be chosen (for a job) before someone from St. Louis," he said.

Bell thinks financial sources should be carefully considered.

"There will be tough financial times ahead. There's no question. If the state continues to cut revenues, we will have no choice but to solve the problems in some way."

"I think the real estate tax system should be re-examined, at least for school funding purposes."

But Knight added that renewed participation in MEGSI will be beneficial to the city.

"It really helps with drug enforcement," he said. "We just don't have the manpower for covert type operations, and MEGSI does just that."

Jakick later told Dunn to take down the poles but Dunn told him they were "flag poles."

Jakick, who said he was a building inspector and not a flag pole inspector, said he had no idea whether the poles were legal so he turned it over to the city's attorneys.

In a move that he admitted was designed to irritate Partney, Dunn obtained a modified tractor that included a rear door, bed, kitchen and bathroom and applied to license it as a recreational vehicle.

Because he continued to park his other truck at home and because the status of his semi-trailer was still in question, Dunn was subjected to a "let's ticket your vehicle umpteenth times a day" campaign which ended about two weeks ago.

The RV, the poles and the lighted sign remain in place on Dunn's property.

Hildebrand said efforts to work out an accord with the city have not met with much response.

The bottom line is we think that Mr. Dunn should be allowed to construct his building," Hildebrand said.

"If we could get past the warfare and get to what should be done, a lot less hard feelings would be felt on both sides."

City Attorney Mark Goldenberg said he had seen the suit but had not yet had time to review it.

"It would be premature to comment at this time," Goldenberg said.

operated the first Pizza Hut franchise in the St. Louis area and has owned various other businesses, is now sole owner of Arch View.

The proposed split of the 5 percent local tax on gambling revenues and a $1 local head tax for each passenger is being approached differently by Arch View. Instead of the money going just to Sauget, which has a population of only about 200 people, it would be shared, on a per capita basis, with several nearby communities — East St. Louis, Centerville, Brooklyn, Alton, Washington Park, Fairmount City, Duplo, East Carondelet and Cahokia.

The state riverboat gambling law reserved one of the first five licenses on the Mississippi for a boat operating out of East St. Louis, but so far no applicant has won the Gaming Board's endorsement. The board rejected an East St. Louis application from Louisiana businessman Joe Terrell last fall. The businessman has a lawsuit pending in Cook County Circuit Court challenging the action and also seeking to overturn the Gaming Board's approval of other licenses.

The Alton casino was given a temporary license by Board Administrator Friedman after a practice cruise on Sept. 10 but the board has not met since then to vote on granting a full license. Assuming board approval Friday, the Belle's owners, Alton Riverboat Gambling Partners, would have their first license for at least a three-year period. Owners will have to pay a $25,000 license fee for the first year and $5,000 for each of the next two years.

Police will share firing range

By Valerie Evenden

Staff writer

Pontoon Beach police officers will join with Venice Police Department members and railroad police in using the newly renovated indoor firing range in the basement of the Venice City Garage.

The Village Board of Trustees at Tuesday night's meeting approved paying $261 as a one-third share of the cost of refurbishing the facility.

The trustees also agreed to purchase a computer/printer and a paper shredder for the village police department.

The Pontoon Beach officers have had no place to hold weapons firing practice on a regular basis except once a year, when all officers must shoot to remain qualified, Gary Wallace of the Pontoon Beach Police Association told the board.

Trustee Marvin Ribbing asked if the amount being sought ($261) was for a specific period of time and how long the agreement with the Venice Police to use the range will remain in effect.

Pontoon Police Chief Chet Ballew said he understood the money requested was a one-time cost just to help with expenses in getting the place back into shape.

The firing range had not been used for several years, Wallace said.

Trustee Louis Whitsell also brought up another police matter, saying, "We have to stop breaking the law in Pontoon Beach."

According to Whitsell, police department documents, computer records and other paper work are being burned in a trash barrel at the rear of the Village Hall.

"We do have an ordinance about open burning, plus we also have a gas tank back there," he said.

Whitsell said he understands that some of the papers now being burned could be considered sensitive and must be disposed of properly. He suggested purchasing a paper shredder, a proposal that was endorsed by Chief Ballew.

Trustee Bob Douglas seconded the motion, noting the village clerk also has a computer system and printer and the cost of a shredder would be justified.

The trustees agreed to purchase a Samuels paper shredder from Office Depot for $199.

Trustee Loren Madison also asked for approval to purchase a computer for record keeping in the police department, a subject discussed at earlier meetings.

The department is equipped with only an inter-agency LEADS computer, but not a computer system in which day-to-day reports and case records can be stored.

Madison suggested purchasing a 124-megabyte computer and printer costing $1,699 from Sam's Wholesale Co.

"I want to say that Loren has made every effort to keep the purchase in the village, but no one could match the price available," Whitsell said.

Doerr said third-quarter shipments were 8 percent above the same period last year, but the third-quarter raw steel production was 3 percent below that of the third quarter of 1990.

Doerr said the company's product mix continued to have a heavier-than-usual concentration on hot-rolled products and exports, both of which have a lower profit margin.

He said the result was lower overall selling prices.

On the other hand, Doerr said, the company's operating performance in the third quarter was $26-per-ton better than the second quarter and $54-per-ton better than the first quarter, largely due to efforts by employees to reduce operating expenses and increase yield and productivity.

Doerr said employment decreased slightly in the third quarter, largely through attrition, and overtime hours were reduced significantly.

Local SOAR members tour Shriners Hospital

Maxine Duniphan covers the Mitchell area for the Press-Record/Journal. She can be contacted at 931-2714.

Some 40 members of the Granite City unit of the Senior Organization of Active Retirees (SOAR) spent the Columbus Day holiday touring the Shriners Hospital for crippled children at 2001 S. Lindbergh Blvd.

Before taking the tour, the group enjoyed a delicious lunch in the in-hospital dining room.

Following lunch, there was a short briefing by the tour guides. The guide (a volunteer Shriner with the hospital) led the tour down the hospital corridor explaining the functions of the hospital and answering any and all questions. Most interesting was the area where the prostheses are made.

These included correction supports and replacement parts for many parts of the body. The group entered the classroom where classes from kindergarten through high school are taught and were introduced to the teacher of 20 years.

Also, of much interest was the way the nurses' stations are set up so the nurse can see each of the 25 rooms on her floor from her desk in the station and each child can see the nurse from his or her bed.

At the end of the presentation, the guides accompanied the group to their bus. The bus driver had an extra treat in store for his passengers as he drove into a very exclusive neighborhood of beautiful, huge homes that were near the hospital. The foliage on the lawns and surrounding hillsides was outstanding.

Karl and Barbara Fulmer of Margaret Street enjoyed the Saturday Cruise up the Mississippi River aboard the Bell of St. Louis cruise boat on Oct. 5.

The four-hour pleasure cruise makes the trip up river through Locks and Dam 27 and continues up river almost to the confluence of the Mississippi and the Missouri Rivers, then turns around and heads back down river for home port.

On board, the Fulmers met four ladies who were retirees from the Ralston Purina Co. in St. Louis. They were from the same department where Karl worked before retiring.

The Fulmers and their shipmates enjoyed the afternoon dining and dancing.

The day cruise is particularly beautiful this time of year. The view of the bluffs and the fall foliage is outstanding. Also interesting is the river traffic and the activity at the canal, and all of this affords a great opportunity for picture taking for those interested in photography, Karl said.

"Although we have lived in this area for more than 40 years, it was the first time Barbara and I have ever cruised up river north of St. Louis and the first time to go through Locks and Dam 27," he said.

Clifford and Maxine Duniphan of Chouteau Avenue were weekend hosts for Clifford's father, Leonard Duniphan from McGee, Mo.

Leonard Duniphan, 86, was here to attend the Duniphan Family Reunion, which was held at the Chouteau Township Social Center on Oct. 13.

Leonard Duniphan and his late wife, Clara (Princess) Duniphan, are the parents of 14 children. Seven of the twelve surviving children and their descendants were present.

Through their son, Clifford, five generations of his family were in attendance.

Also present were his daughter, Leda Caldwell and family from the Jacksonville, Ill., area; his son, Elza Duniphan and family from Jerseyville and Collinsville; his son, Troy Duniphan and family from the Caseyville area; his son, Woodrow Duniphan and family from the Granite City area; his son, Lowell Duniphan and family from Brighton and the Granite City area; and his daughter, Brenda Caudell and family from the St. James, Mo. area.

The day was spent visiting and taking pictures. A videotape was made of the event.

Following a lovely potluck dinner, music was provided by the Silver Strings Band.

THE LAW AND YOU

BY RICK REED
Attorney At Law

A person commits a battery when he either intentionally or knowingly, and without legal justification, makes physical contact of an insulting or provoking nature with an individual. There is also a criminal offense known as, "aggravated battery." One way that a battery can rise to the level of an aggravated battery is if the defendant knows that the individual harmed is a teacher ... and such teacher is upon the grounds of the school ... or is in any part of a building used for school purposes.

In one recent case, the defendant's son, Brian, was in the first grade at a school in Decatur, Illinois. The complainant was a first grade teacher at the school. Brian was academically behind the rest of the students in his first grade class, and on one occasion the teacher went to the parking lot to discuss his academic problems with the father.

The teacher asked the father for permission to keep Brian after school. The father refused permission, and the teacher once again emphasized that this would be necessary in order for Brian not to have to repeat his reading level the next year.

The teacher testified that the defendant became angry and began yelling at her. He then began poking his finger in the teacher's face, saying he was sick and tired of having to do the teachers' jobs. At one point, the father poked the teacher with his finger in her sternum, approximately four inches below her Adam's apple.

The teacher left the parking lot in tears and went to the principal's office. The police were called and the father was charged with aggravated battery.

The jury returned a guilty verdict and the defendant was sentenced to eighteen months' probation, conditional upon a thirty-day term of imprisonment in the County Jail. On appeal, the father argued that the State failed to prove beyond a reasonable doubt that the teacher was insulted or provoked when he poked her with his finger.

The Appellate Court noted that the independent witness testified that the teacher left the parking lot in tears. Furthermore, the teacher testified that she was shocked by the defendant's behavior, and believed it was uncalled for. Therefore, it was found that there was sufficient evidence for the jury to conclude the teacher was insulted or provoked by the defendant's touching. Thus, the decision of the trial court was affirmed finding the father guilty of aggravated battery.

Offensive line leads Warrior attack

By Mike Kelly
Staff writer

They're known as the men in the trenches — the unsung heroes.

While the "skill position" players get the headlines, the offensive linemen are left in the shadows. Without them, however, a football team couldn't survive. Ask the 1991 Warriors. Thanks in large part to the line, the 6-1 Warriors will go to the playoffs for the first time in five years.

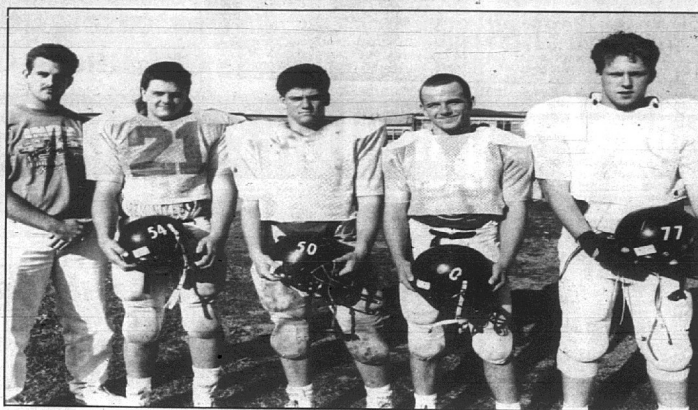

They are averaging 257 yards rushing per game. While backs Damon Yates, Mike Vaughn, Billy Van Buskirk and the others get the yardage, the line makes it all possible.

It takes a special individual to play the offensive line," said Granite City coach Tom Wyrostek, who was an All-American center at the University of Missouri. "We've been blessed with an outstanding group this season. They're a bunch of hard-nosed kids. They're coming and they take a lot of pride in their blocking."

That pride showed last week against SLUH. Behind the blocking of center Jeff Heuschman (5-9, 180), guards Eric Mendenhall (5-10, 210) and Chris Hoffstot (5-7, 155), and tackles Larry Earney (6-3, 238) and Pat Jessee (6-1, 205), the Warriors churned out 305 yards on the ground and defeated the Junior Blues, 23-7.

"I told the kids before that game that I wasn't afraid to put them up against anyone," said Larry Curry Sr., the offensive and defensive line coach of the Warriors. "These kids have a tremendous work habit. They communicate well and their execution is superb. I couldn't ask for a better group of individuals to work with."

Curry is so impressed with his line that he compares it to the offensive line on Granite City's 1985 team.

"That line had more talent," Curry said. "There were three Division I prospects. But this line matches that one in hard work and desire. They might lack size, but you can't measure the size of their hearts."

"Take a guy like Hoffstot. He's only 5-7, 155 pounds. But he's not afraid to stick his nose in there to make a key block. That type of attitude filters down."

The line only averages 198 pounds each. All of them are seniors except Jessee, a junior.

"We're small, but our blocking schemes work to our advantage," Hoffstot said. "We use a lot of technique off the snap. We do a lot of trap blocking and 'G' blocking. That allows us to hit our opponents on an angle and create the holes inside."

The new blocking scheme was introduced this season.

"We've done some of this blocking in the past," Earney said. "Coach Wyrostek was concerned about our size, so he decided to use these blocking schemes to take advantage of our quickness. Most of us have been playing together since our freshman year and we've gradually improved the last four years."

The line displayed its confidence against SLUH on a fourth-and-six play, talking Wyrostek into going for the first down.

"We knew we could get the yardage," Earney said. "It's satisfying to see our running backs score a touchdown or get a first down on a crucial play. That's our reward, and the skill people realize how important we are to them."

"They're always congratulating us in the huddle after a play. We might not get the recognition from the media and the fans, but our teammates and our coaches appreciate us."

"People don't think we're for names and kicking butt," Heuschman said. "Staying low, getting leverage and drive-blocking with our legs is our strength. We work very hard on those techniques. That's why we've been so successful."

Their goal is not complete yet.

"We want to be remembered as the offensive line that led Granite City to more than eight wins in a season," Heuschman said. "As far as we know, Granite City has never won more than eight."

A Homecoming win over Alton tomorrow, a win over Belleville East next week and one playoff win will give the Warriors nine wins. If they reach that goal, they'll be shooting for more.

"People don't think we're for real," Hoffstot said. "Going into our game last week, one paper said we weren't made of granite. I think we proved those people wrong. We believe in ourselves every time we take the field. That's why we get the job done."

Redbirds hope to stay close

By Dave Whaley
Staff writer

Collis James is only hoping to keep it as close as the last two years.

The Warrior football team has beaten Alton the past two seasons, but it hasn't been easy. Granite City scored in the final minute to pull out each game. Any old kind of win will do tomorrow night as the 1-6 Redbirds come to Memorial Stadium for the 7:30 p.m. Homecoming game against the 6-1 Warriors. Granite City needs one more win to assure itself of its first playoff berth since 1989.

In 1989, Bobby Thomas hit Mike Mueller with a 29-yard touchdown pass with 26 seconds left for a 14-9 win. Last year, Mike Nordstrom kicked an 18-yard field goal with 13 seconds left at Public School Stadium for a 30-27 win.

"I hope we can keep it close enough to have a chance at the end," said James. "But Granite City doesn't make many mistakes. I still think East St. Louis and Lincoln are the top two large school teams in the area, but Granite City is close behind them."

GC football

The Warriors are now fifth in the Suburban Journals large school coaches poll and will certainly go in as a prohibitive favorite against the Redbirds, who have beaten only Collinsville this year.

"I have to take the blame for this season," said James. "I overlooked how young and inexperienced we were. But if we could have won one of the first two games, it might have been different."

The Redbirds led Althoff 7-6 at halftime before losing 35-7 in the season opener, then lost a 32-27 shootout to Missouri's small school power Lutheran North the next week. After getting past Collinsville 21-7 with two fourth-quarter touchdowns, things have deteriorated. East St. Louis led Alton 49-0 in the first game of the season.

The Redbirds got solid performances from sophomore running back James Carter. They combined

IHSA soccer, volleyball regional pairings set

The Warrior soccer and volleyball teams will open post-season play at home.

The soccer team is the second seed in the 30-team Collinsville Sectional behind the Kahoks. Granite City will play at the Gauntlett at 11 a.m. Saturday. The Warriors will play the preliminary game between Cahokia and Mascoutah in a Regional B semifinal of the Collinsville Sectional. If the Warriors win that, they will play the winner of Thursday's game between Belleville East and Waterloo Gibault. That would be Tuesday at 7 p.m., also at the Gauntlett.

In volleyball, the Lady Warriors host a Class AA Sectional next Tuesday and Thursday. Top-seeded Edwardsville plays No. 4 Triad in the first match at 6:30 p.m. in Memorial Gymnasium on Tuesday. The No. 3 Lady Warriors meet No. 2 Highland immediately after the first match. The regional championship will be Oct. 31 at 7 p.m.

He should know. The Legend blasted 97 home runs last year. He's stuck on 58 this year, although they lose count of how many games they play in a season. They play as long as the weather is reasonable.

The Legend has the equipment. He's in the process of marketing two models of aluminum wiffleball bats. One is the "Ledge Sledge" and the other is the "King's Stick." The Ledge Sledge is 13 ounces, two inches in diameter and 35 inches long. The King's Stick is 11 ounces, 1 1/2 inches in diameter and 36 inches long.

"I use the bigger one when the pitcher throws harder," he said. "I would like to be able to form an association (the Major League Wiffleball Association), make enough money from selling the bats to retire and sponsor some tournaments. Then people could get home at 2:30 in the morning and watch wiffleball."

the contest out of the fire and snapped Cahokia's (12-10) two-game losing streak.

"Shenetta came to play tonight," Cahokia coach Arnie Kinsella said. "Without her we might have lost another game we should have won."

With the third game tied 1-1, Douglas came off the bench to replace senior Francis Dell. She made an immediate impact by giving Cahokia the lead with a service point. She added two dinks and a kill during a nine-point service run that broke the game open.

Meanwhile, Granite City coach Cindy Gagich was pleased with the Senior Night effort.

"Our girls really battled back," she said. "They could have tossed up their hands in the opening set, but the girls fought hard and extended this match to three sets."

Cahokia blew a 14-4 lead in the first set and had to hang on. Four-point runs by Karen Sykes and Amy Krakowicki ignited the comeback. Krakowicki helped Granite City (7-13) win the second set by racking up five kills, a dink and two blocks.

It was the final home match for Warrior seniors Sykes, Carrie Brown and Jennifer Worham, although Granite City hosts regional action next week.

GC-Alton game airs on WGNU at 7:20

Friday's football game between Granite City and Alton will be broadcast live on WGNU-AM (920).

It will be Homecoming for the Warriors (6-1), who will try to clinch a playoff berth against the 1-6 Redbirds. The broadcast will begin with pre-game information at 7:20 p.m. Kick-off is scheduled for 7:30.

for 197 yards rushing and each scored two touchdowns in the second half against the Flyers. Senior Horatio Willis, Alton's leading rusher with 490 yards, didn't play last week and won't play this week either after suffering a shoulder injury against Cahokia on Oct. 11.

NOTES: The Warriors are fourth in the area in rushing yards with 1,659 (237 per game) and fourth in points with 218 (31.1 per game). Defensively, Granite City is sixth in points allowed (87, 12.4 per game) and sixth in takeaways with 17 (eight interceptions and nine fumble recoveries).

Mike Vaughn leads the Warriors with eight touchdowns for 48 points, while Damon Yates is close behind with seven touchdowns and 45 points. Drake Marshall has completed 27 of 49 passes (55 percent) for 411 yards, three touchdowns and three interceptions. All three interceptions came in the East St. Louis game. Also among the area leaders are Chris Hoffstot with four quarterback sacks and Jason Roulanitis with three fumble recoveries. Yates has 585 yards rushing (6.2 per carry) and Vaughn has 443 (7.0 per carry). Though known as a blue-collar, grind-it-out team, the Warriors have shown big-play ability. They are averaging close to six yards per carry and 15 of their 31 touchdowns have come on plays of 28 yards or more.

Studies vending industry

What's new in vending machines? Plenty, according to John J. Janek, president of John's Vending Service of Granite City. Janek joined other industry leaders recently to examine manufacturers' latest offerings and participate in educational forums at the National Automatic Merchandising Association convention, trade show and education sessions.

About 7,500 industry delegates attended and 240 companies exhibited products and services for vending and food service, according to Richard M. Geerdes, NAMA's director of conventions.

Many new vending machines have added sophisticated electronics for more reliable operation and improved merchandising. NAMA, formed in 1936, is the non-profit trade association of the merchandise vending, refreshment and contract food business.

Foreigner rebounds with rocking sound

By Alan Sculley
Correspondent

Guitarist Mick Jones can recall the moment when he first began to wonder about the future of his highly popular band, Foreigner.

Foreigner headlines an Oct. 31 concert at the Fox Theatre. Tickets for the 8 p.m. show, which also includes opening act XYZ, are $17.50 and $15.50.

He heard "Midnight Blue," the first single from "Ready or Not," the 1987 solo debut album by Foreigner's singer at the time, Lou Gramm.

"I have to say when I first heard Lou's single from his (first) solo album, I got a bit of a shock because I thought for a minute it was me playing guitar on there," Jones said in a recent interview. "It sounded so close to the identity of this band."

The Foreigner-like sound of "Ready or Not" sparked resentment toward Gramm within the band, Jones said, which only grew as Gramm released a second solo album, "Long Hard Look," in 1989. Gramm made his long-remembered departure official last year.

"I felt that Lou was going to do something kind of different (with his solo music)," Jones said. "The situation from that point really started deteriorating, I think, because it became more and more obvious that Lou was going to compete with the band basically."

The Gramm episode forced Jones to take a long look at the future of the group he founded in 1975 and guided through six platinum-selling studio albums prior to the current record, "Unusual Heat."

"It was a little hard for me," Jones said, recalling some of the questions he asked himself. "What's the identity of this band? Does it lie in Lou's voice or is it the original concept I had when I formed the band that Lou joined?"

Of course, a main order of business was finding a new vocalist to join the remaining members of Foreigner—Jones, bassist Rick Willis and drummer Dennis Elliott. Rather than opting for a high-profile replacement, Jones chose a relatively unknown singer/guitarist, Johnny Edwards.

"I wasn't merely looking for a pretty strong voice," Jones said. "I was looking for somebody I could write with, somebody that had the depth a little bit to be able to handle the situation, to handle the pressure that comes along with it."

Jones said he was immediately drawn to Edwards, who unlike his British-born band mates is a native of Kentucky—even though he had only heard him sing on an audition tape.

"When I heard his voice, the moment I heard it, I could detect something in there that was just more than a voice," Jones said. "It was on a song actually called 'Ready For the Rain,' which at that point, I didn't know Johnny had co-written. He was doing something more than singing a song. It was a personal statement, and I was very impressed with it."

Eartha Kitt relates to film's character

By Harry Hamm
Correspondent

The presence of internationally famous entertainer Eartha Kitt in the new Touchstone Pictures release "Ernest Scared Stupid" is not as unlikely as it sounds.

Both Kitt and Jim Varney, who has played the character of Ernest in television commercials since the early 1970s and in movies since 1987, are film actors by accident.

Varney was a struggling stand-up comedian in 1974 when his career was turned around by Sgt. Glory, a character he did on local television commercials in Nashville, Tenn. It started a career in advertising that has seen Varney appear in more than 2,000 commercials and eventually get his own series of comedy feature films.

Kitt came into the entertainment business in the early 1940s after accepting a dare from a girlfriend to audition for the world-famous Katherine Dunham Dance Troupe.

Kitt was accepted for the dance troupe on a full scholarship basis. Before her audition she was living the life of what she calls a "street person," earning her meager support by dancing everything from jitters to Latin numbers on street corners for coins thrown by passersby.

Born on a farm in South Carolina, Kitt says she never had a father and that her mother died when she was "knee-high to a grasshopper."

"I was raised by the gods," Kitt says with a sarcastic laugh. "The Dunham group was my first real family and I've been guessing my way through life ever since."

Kitt says there was no speculation on her part when she accepted her role in "Ernest Scared Stupid." She says she enjoys doing the unexpected and, after reading the script, she found herself thinking about the many things she had in common with her character, Old Lady Hackmore.

Eartha Kitt plays an eccentric in "Ernest Scared Stupid."

In "Ernest Scared Stupid," Hackmore is an eccentric sculptress. She lives alone in an old, decaying house and acts as a kind of witch that helps her community of trolls who have come to life and are threatening the community's children. The film is set in the fictional town of Briarville, Mo.

"She's the kind of person who is a loner," Kitt explains. "She lives alone and it isn't that she doesn't like people, but she just doesn't want to be bothered. But when she's called on to come to the rescue of the children, then she does."

"Personally, I feel very close to the Hackmore character," Kitt says. "I think in many ways, she's a lot like me. She loves people, but she just wants to be alone."

But Kitt isn't getting much privacy right now. Currently on tour in Europe with Stephen Sondheim's "Follies," she says she will return to the United States on Dec. 29 and looks forward to a few months off at her country home in the woods outside New Milford, Conn. In March, Kitt will open a cabaret engagement in New York City at the Carlyle Hotel.

"I've been traveling all my adult life, starting in 1945," Kitt says. "I grew up all over the world. I suppose that's why I cherish my time alone so much. My daughter has given me a grandchild and I love to have them at my home. In fact, I love being a grandmother. Now who would believe that?"

The world seemed to believe Orson Welles when, after seeing her perform in Paris with the Dunham Troupe, Welles called her "The most exciting woman in the world."

"If you have a following," Kitt explains, "you find that the best audiences in the world are wherever you are. If people like you, they follow your work, reforming in English-speaking countries is a little easier, but I've been happily surprised everywhere I've worked."

Kitt recalls that the last time she appeared in St. Louis was in a production of "Timbuktu." She also appeared in the film "St. Louis Blues."

Kitt recently published "Eartha Kitt: Confessions of a Sex Kitten," which is the third installment of her autobiography.

Travelers Abroad opens 26th season

Travelers Abroad started its 26th year in September with 24 members and seven visitors in attendance. Dr. Alice Purdes, president, welcomed the group. In a brief business meeting, Purdes and all the officers and chairmen from last year were re-elected. Dues were paid to treasurer, Helen Lilly, and the monthly meeting was set for Nov. 24.

Purdes introduced guest John Gordon, who presented a narrated slide program on Russia, along with a brief excursion into Helsinki. Gordon's trip, taken in the summer of 1989, involved Russian buses that were not air conditioned. None of their flights between cities on Aeroflot included any food or cold drinks. The Russian guide, a high school science teacher during the school year, was highly critical of Mr. Gorbachev.

Many slides showed scenes inside and outside Red Square and the Kremlin. St. Basil's Cathedral, with its many onion-shaped domes and Lenin's Mausoleum with only a few persons waiting for admission and, later, with a line extending for several blocks were shown.

The tourists also saw the Olympic Stadium in Moscow and visited several of the spottiest, highly decorated subway stations. Each station is different, with some being noted for their statuary, or the marble columns or their murals. Escalators leading down to the subway stations are extremely long and very fast.

The group traveled by bus to Suzdal, northeast of Moscow, near Vladimir. This medieval area was very important in the 12th and 13th centuries as it was an important trade route in the region. The town was once the heart of the Russian Orthodox religion and is famous for its many cathedrals and monasteries. The elegant churches in this area had a distinctive style of single domes, rather than multi-domes. Most of the buildings in the area are old-fashioned, wooden styles. One monastery had a large number of bells, in a partially open area, which required three or four bell ringers to present a concert.

Gordon showed pictures of a German tour group traveling in air-conditioned buses, but pulling trailers which convert into tents for picnicking/cooking facilities. Another side of the trailer was for sleeping and each person had a single shelf for his bed and they were stacked three high throughout the trailer. For bathing purposes, it was rumored that the group would rent two or three hotel rooms and everyone took a shower.

Yalta, on the Black Sea, was the next stop. Pictures of vacation homes, of which many people were shown as well as the high hill called the Swallow's Nest and the palace where Nicholas II and his family were killed. President Roosevelt, met during World War II.

Some slides showed the youth of Russia, each wearing a red tie were included and Gordon commented on how clean and well-behaved they were. Leningrad was next on the tour agenda and the group saw the city of Peter and Paul. Press, toured the famous Hermitage Museum, saw the famous statue of Peter the Great and toured the ship museum in the harbor from which the first shot was fired that started the Revolution in 1917.

Traveling by hydrofoil, the group went to Petrodvorets, the park outside Leningrad containing landscaped gardens and hundreds of fountains, many of which line a mall-type area leading to the sea.

On the return trip, the group spent a short time in Helsinki and Gordon had slides of the "Mother Church" or cathedral on a hill overlooking the bay. Statues adorn the roof of the building.

The "underground church", officially known as the Temppeliaukio Church, was blasted out of solid rock. It features a copper dome surrounded by light of glass providing light. A beautiful, modern organ arrangement is a highlight inside the church. Market Square, with open-air stalls lining the bay where anyone who wants can be purchased, was also shown.

Guests present were Nora and Mildred King, Harry Parker, Thomas Leik, Ruby Hart and Georgia Mirchev.

Members attending were Nina Dittman, Georgia Engleke, Dorothy and Waldo Frohardt, Eunice and Jullienne Hatcher, Martha and Jimmy Hayes, Joe and Gen Hill, Dorothy Hoedbeck, Elina Hoover, Marguerite Lexow, Marge O'Neill, Anne and Mary Petroff, Eleanor and Charles Schweitzer, Virginia Segar, Barbara Williams, Betty Duft and Marjorie King.

Reservations for the 26th season are being accepted. For more information, contact Alice Purdes, Travelers Abroad, 1000 N. Main St., Suite 100, Granite City, IL 62040. Phone: 636-244-1111.
